

Welcome to the latest edition of Libberton's Reading Newsletter. We are all very excited that our new outdoor reading space is now finished and look forward to its official opening on Friday 5th May. Our new and improved lending library will also be open. This now features a wide selection of adult books, cookbooks and children's books. See the picture below for a sneak preview!! Both classes have also picked new books for their class libraries, and they should be arriving soon.

Book Recommendation – The Tail of Emily Windsnap by Liz Kessler

By Claire Bleakley
Children's Assistant, Biggar Library

This is the first book of a series and is a great read.

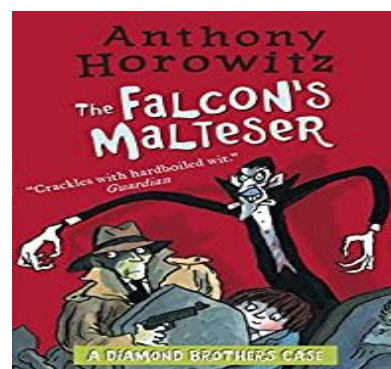

This book is clever and magical and starts with a girl called Emily who wants to do swimming classes with school, but her mother won't sign the permission slip. Emily really wants to learn to swim and forges her mother's signature. However, during her very first lesson Emily learns an unexpected secret about herself and her whole world changes ...

Book Recommendation – The Diamond Brothers by Anthony Horowitz

By Sue, Atkinson-Pryce Books, Biggar

The Diamond Brothers books by Anthony Horowitz are a humorous series about the world's worst private detective Tim Diamond and his more intelligent younger brother Nick. Illustrated by Tony Ross, the stories feature international criminals, puns and absurd situations, titles include The Falcon's Malteser, Where Seagulls Dare and The French Confection. "Very funny...with laugh-aloud, irreverent jokes on every page." The Good Book Guide

Guess the Reader

The children enjoyed guessing who our mystery reader was last month. Well done if you guessed correctly, it was Mrs Sheridan! Can you guess who our mystery reader is?

Title: The Funniest Boy in the World

Author: Helen Rutter
This book is the sequel to 'The Boy Who Made Everyone Laugh.' They are both about a boy named Billy and his dream to become a famous comedian, but his stammer holds him back. I like this book because it is funny and exciting.

Title: How to Win a
Monster Race

Author: Carl Hart &
Ed Eaves

This book is about a boy names Albie and he was in a car wash without his mum and when the brushes stop everything looks different. He then ends up in a monster race. I like this book because he ends up helping monsters.
